KERRY HAS BEEN RELEASED!

On Jan 5th Kerry Whitburn was sentenced to 2 months in prison for the attempted liberation of two monkeys from a pet shop in Nottingham. He saw the shop on a TV documentary and noticed the monkeys in cages which were too small. Kerry taped a black bin liner to a door panel at the front of the shop then smashed it with a crow bar.

He opened the cages, ready to put the monkeys into two bags, and transport them to an animal sanctuary. At this point he was disturbed and had to leave.

Kerry was arrested and charged after blood was found on the inner blind of the door which matched his. He pled guilty to burglary with intent, after explaining to the court that he had already attempted to buy them from the shop owner.

Hanna Ekegren

SWEDEN

Animal rights ploughshare Hanna Ekegren has started a 10 month prison sentence for her part in an "open" action in which the activists turned themselves in voluntarily to the police after they had smashed up a chicken processing company. The action saved the lives of an estimated 54,000 chickens by destroying the equipment and eggs of unborn chickens being bred for the industry. Please send letters of support.

US activist Benjamin Persky has been released from prison. He was convicted of trashing two apartment buildings, belonging to HLS collaborators.

and fake bank notes. This action is known to be one of the final straws that broke the Wright family and forced them to dump the Halls.

Proud worker at Newchurch, Nick Sanders and his partner were visited in March, activists went to his home and planted a hoax device strategically under his car. This is not the only visit he has received:

“Nick Sanders loves to abuse guinea pigs and god knows what else! It was decided by UK activists that their estate needed reminding of some of the more personal habits of these two local freaks. Very personal slogans using heavy-duty industrial road paint were sprayed all over their access road leading to their house during the night! Everybody in that area will now know what these perverts do with their spare time. Vicious animal abusers like these need to be continuously outed and we will not stop any actions until he stops killing guinea pigs at Newchurch. ALF!”

Dove fuels, who supplied fuel to the Halls were quick to dump them in November after Rodney Harvey was visited by activists during the night. There is no doubt that this action would have aided his decision to dump the Halls after Rodney's windows were smashed at his property. As activists left the scene the paint on Rodney's car was bubbling and dissolving away after it was daubed in paint stripper. Rodney was also leaning through his newly broken windows screaming "You fing bastards". Not surprisingly he severed all links just days later.

Newchurch workers, May Hudson and Simon Turner were also visited at the end of March. At May Hudson's property four heavy duty bricks were thrown through her front windows followed by four glass bottles of paint. Simon Turner's home received a new paint job when thick paint was thrown all over his front drive and garage.

The Halls used to enjoy quiet drinks at their favourite pub with their family and friends... but not any more! The Red Lion Pub were also quick to drop the Halls despite protest from the landlord and regulars. In February three cars belonging to the Red Lion Pub were paint stripped. However this wasn't enough to convince landlord Keith Marklew to bar the Halls from the pub and so a letter was sent to the Burton-based Union Pub Company, part of Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries, who own the pub urging them to ban the entire Hall family or face further extreme action. The locals who threatened to boycott the pub and the landlord were outraged when days later the brewery wrote a letter to the Halls sensibly asking them not to return to the Red Lion with immediate effect.

Over the last few months, many slogans have been painted around various workers homes, as well as many workers receiving packages with unmentionable disgusting contents. Funeral cards have also been sent to all of the workers containing warnings.

Calor Gas Ltd also dropped the Halls in February after Director Clive James Whorton had three of his cars treated with paint stripper on Valentines day. The Animal Rights Militia had also sent a letter warning Calor Gas of the consequences of dealing with Newchurch Guinea Pig Farm. Luckily for Calor Gas they wisely dumped the Halls before any more actions had been carried out.

Letters have been sent to the home addresses of over twenty Novartis workers raising concerns about their employee's involvement with Newchurch Farm.

The Halls have lost another employee, John Wright. In the lead up to Christmas hundreds of businesses and shops in Burton were sent a photo of his wife Hillary Wright with a letter warning them that she was a violent fraudster passing through the area and that she was using cloned credit cards

As part of ongoing attacks against the Hall family, slogans have been continually sprayed in the surrounding areas of family members homes, and rockets which are like big bangers have been repeatedly set off at their homes. In March the Halls have also been sent packages containing cryptic warnings and disgusting matter.

David Hall has not been left out of the action. John's farmhouse has had his windows taken out and his home attacked by paint:

"Last night activists visited David Hall of David Hall and Partners. With his two evil sons Chris and John, he created the sick animal abusing empire at Newchurch. His farmhouse front windows were all put through with bricks. Bottles of red paint were thrown through the smashed windows. For the guinea pigs abused by the Halls there will be no let up in our actions against these sadists."

Sally, the daughter of John Hall was also visited just before

13/02/03 A Wickham employee had their house covered in paint stripper and paint. Slogans were painted along their fencing, drive and doors. Their wooden porch, windowsills and drain pipes were stripped of paint.

The ALF pass a cage of mice through the roof at Wickham

The ATF Expose Botox Horror

"Late on Saturday December 2003 an ALF team broke into Wickham Laboratories in Hampshire, cut through the roof of the main animal unit and dropped into the network of laboratories and animal stock rooms below. Surveillance cameras were disabled and nearly 700 mice taken out back through the roof and whisked to safety.

Tragically a large police operation later tracked down all but a few dozen mice and seized them. When approached by an animal protection group regarding the welfare of the mice, a detective leading the investigation said that there was no need to worry as the mice were being "well cared for and looked after". Unlikely in the extreme given that they were taken straight back to the lab. Wickham said "They've gone the way of the rest of 'em".

That's not the end of the story though, not by a long shot. What Wickham Laboratories wanted back much more than the mice, and what Hampshire Police mobilised its force for were the documents that left the lab with the mice. The police never got these documents, and a scandal was revealed.

Lab reports detail the journey each mouse was taking in its brief life. Some groups rescued were a few hours from their first injection of Botulinum Toxin (BT), others had had two or three days of them. This might strike a chord with some readers, as Botox is the name given to Botulinum Toxin when used for cosmetic purposes. BT is considered one of the most toxic substances known to man, with biological weapon potential! Many animals from mice to monkeys, have already been poisoned by Botox and humans have been using it for years. But research has revealed that every batch of Botox developed is being tested on mice due to the fluctuation in potency of each batch. And its use is increasing.

In one experimental group of 32 mice, just 19 were still living to be rescued on the third day of the tests. Twenty had survived in another group, and the other 'batches' were no different. When half have died the others are killed with gas, having their necks broken or by lethal injection. This is the LD50 test and it is how most animals die at Wickham Labs. For example on the 12 December, the day before the raid, over 600 mice were put to death, the survivors of other LD50's. Record show there are few days at Wickham when 100's if not 1000's of rabbits, rats, guinea pigs and mice die in a really unpleasant way. And if that isn't bad enough, they boast that they are keen to take more of the work HLS now miss out on and are seeking to expand their operation and build bigger facilities to profit from this.

Botulinum Toxin is widely used for medical purposes and is readily licenced by the government. It was actually government scientists who developed the cosmetic version of it at Porton Down in the 1970's. Botox is now increasingly used for cosmetic reasons and is a money spinner in its own right. But a legal loophole has been unearthed which enables makers Ipsen Biopharm, who contract the tests at Wickham, to sneak its cosmetic product into circulation on the back of its origins as a medical product. No distinction is made between the two.

So what we have here, apart from lots of tiny tortured souls and wasted lives, are worthless, secret tests in which animals die painfully when injected with something humans inject and survive. We also have in full flow an extremely crude and widely derided procedure, which is rubbished by industry and the scientific community alike as meaningless in terms of human risk assessment. Of all the products around, those most dangerous to humans are surely the ones most in need of advanced, scientifically credible testing, and not the archaic LD50!

TO CONCLUDE...

The LD50 was partially banned by the government in 1999 following a legal challenge by the BUAV. The Government announced that LD50 would no longer be licensed except on 'exceptional scientific grounds'. Since Botox became fashionable over the last 2 or 3 years, there has been a dramatic rise in the number of LD50 tests. And of course we no longer have cosmetics being tested on animals in the UK because we only test essential medical products, eh?

No! We have a government profiting from the LD50 testing of a cosmetic product they developed! Which is why the Animal Liberation Front is here to stay.

And it doesn't end there! Far from it. What has thus far been kept a closely guarded secret on our part is the fact that it was a contact inside Wickham that led to this Botox Expose. On our side for reasons of their own, our whistle-blower passed over information about the haphazard movements to and from the labs that see animal technicians turn up at all hours through the night to execute rodents that haven't died. Other priceless details about the things these intrepid scientists wanted kept secret meant the date of the raid was as crucial as the timing on the night, and so it proved. And there's more to come, much more. The Wickham gravy train has left the rails."

Life On The Receiving End Of The AIF

Rene van der Kwaak left his job as a director of Chiron in the Netherlands. He put an A4 piece of paper in his car windows and on the windows of his house in Hilversum. "They have to know that I quit Chiron. I have sent them an email. Hopefully they will leave me alone now."

When he came on a Sunday evening, he saw that a bomb was put in front of my door. A bomb! When I came home, the street was full with police. An ambulance came, the fire department.

I became ill. I was totally down. I couldn't concentrate any more, I didn't feel like working. I never had that before in my life. I was thinking all the time: what would be their next step? You're living in fear. You become extremely alert in a nasty way."

Hetty, his wife said: "When we went to bed and I turned out the light, I always looked outside if their were no ski masks walking in our garden. If we had to go anywhere in the car than Rene started the car and I waited inside with the children. If a bomb exploded we would at least survive."

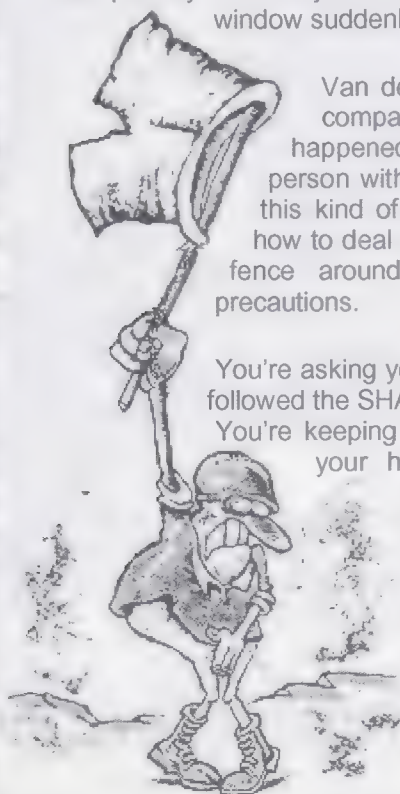

The company wanted me to work in the USA and I was offered a job. But I didn't want to leave and the aggression made it much easier. I worked for 17 years for Chiron. I wanted to leave on a good way. Now I'm only relieved. I hope the threats will stop now.

In September he received an email from Chiron. "2 bombs were exploded at our head office in the USA. I arranged directly that we would have protection at our house. I went home straight away.

The police called one day to tell me that 13 activists were on their way to my home in Hilversum. We sent the children to the basement and Hetty was looking out of the window with binoculars. I was standing with a guard in front of our house. The police arrested the Germans, English and Italians near our house.

Van der Kwaak woke up in November: "I saw 2 males with ski masks being busy with my car. I didn't go to them, the police told me not to do it. They put paintstripper on my car. The guy from the garage told me next day that someone really must have hated me to do something like that. In the morning he saw slogans spraypainted on his house like Chiron blood money and Chiron drop HLS.

Chiron put on its website how the company is working with animals. The connection with HLS has been stopped. The bombs on the head office in the USA made the directors think of course.

Below is a small selection of the actions taking place across the globe on a daily bases in the war against animal abuse. The reports are from anonymous communiqués and media reports.

CHINCHILLA FARM LIBERATION

"During the first hours of the 5th of November our ALF cell decided to remember our Barry Home in the way he would like: by targeting animal abusers and saving lives. We went to the only chinchilla farm in Spain. It was placed in a basement of a small house under construction. There was a big guard dog encaged in that dirty place, who soon became our friend.

We got in easily through a window and started to liberate some of the chinchillas. About twenty were liberated in the fields near the farm, we took with us another twenty and we also liberated one rabbit and the only ferret in the farm.

We destroyed all the machines and we threw down the shelves with the caging which had no animals inside."

●HLS' WEBSITE DISMANTLED

"1) We have successfully attacked HLS website. You know about it. It is almost unreachable. And we will increase our attack very soon.

2) We have successfully attacked HLS' e-mails. Currently @huntingdon.com receive 100000 e-mails per 24 hours. It is fully automatically, so we can do it for a very long time."

HLS' website was offline for several months – not very good for business! It has been reported that the lab's phone lines are the Russian's next target.

15/12/04 – FINLAND

FUR FARM BUILDING BURNT DOWN

"A fur farm storage building has burned down completely in Veteli, Finland. The fire department got to the farm at 2.30 pm. where they were able to get the fire under control. The fire department had to get back to the farm later that evening because fire started again. "

15/12/04 – ITALY

MINK FARM LIBERATION

"On the night of December 15 a mink farm in Castel di Sangro, L'Aquila, was raided by the ALF. The cages in the 4 sheds of this farm have all been opened liberating all the animals. The farm had no fence, no alarms, but 5 guard dogs. This is the fourth successful mink liberation in 2003. The farmers are trying to prevent further actions, but their offer of 20.000 euros for information on ALF activists didn't succeed. They have been posting a message with the 20.000 euros offer to all the AR groups, campaigns and organizations, giving contact details for those wishing to grass someone. And their mobile phone and e-mail box are being stormed with hundreds of calls and messages to show disgust with their work... how stupid they are!

If you want you can email them at: info@aiav.it"

27/12/04 - ITALY

HUNTING FACILITY ARSON

"A hunting dogs training centre was damaged with fire. On site the police found a banner reading "Hunters: if animals are your target, you are ours". 40 quails had been liberated from the site previously this year. This time there was no birds and fire was set to the bird cages and the hunters dressing room."

30/12/04 – FINLAND

ARSON AT FUR FARM

"Fire destroyed a fur farm storage building in Uusikaarlepyy. The fire destroyed the 375 square meter building completely. Uusikaarlepyy has more than 300 fur farms. It's the heart of Finnish fur farming community."

31/12/04 - ITALY

CIRCUS TRUCK ARSON

Nine circus trucks were torched by the ALF. The circus of Barcelona estimated damages at 400.000 euros.

On site the following message was left: "The show is over. ALF".

31/12/04 – SPAIN

SLAUGHTERHOUSE TRUCK TORCHED

"Fire. Destruction. Ruin. On New Years Eve we decided to send a message to those people who, day after day, fill their pockets with money stained by the blood of innocent and defenseless life. 12 liters of gasoline were placed under a refrigerated truck, property of an industrial slaughter house. The flames did their work, reducing great parts of the vehicle to ashes, and making it unusable.

For us, sabotage and arson is the most pure and irretrievable expression of our desire of liberation and of our solidarity with our brothers and sisters being murdered, dominated, jailed, tortured, gutted, vivisectioned, poisoned, shot, struck, cut up and cooked.

We urge activists to liberate animal prisoners and to go to war on exploiters. Their victims can't talk so we must speak for them."

Sinister activists widen target to strike at will

By Valerie Elliott, Countryside Editor, January 28, 2004

PLACARDS and demonstrations are the public face of animal welfare protests but scores of men and women live in fear because of the more sinister actions of people opposed to drug testing or research involving animals.

Victims of terror tactics include staff who work with animals in laboratories or those who support or condone such research activities. It is estimated that about 50 people nationwide form a hardcore who engage in militant action. A loose-knit group, they operate in the name of the Animal Liberation Front, the Animal Rights Militia or Stop Huntingdon Animal Cruelty the campaign to 'close Huntingdon Life Sciences (HLS), a contract research laboratory in Cambridgeshire.

They have abandoned reason and argument, instead engaging in a relentless pursuit of those with whom they disagree. They have widened their potential targets and, as in the case of HLS, take action against customers and third parties who provide services, such as bankers, accountants and brokers. Such third-party action is being waged against Japanese pharmaceutical companies, in particular Yamanouchi.

Even its landlord, Emerson Developers, a property company based in the North West, has come under attack. Nineteen directors have been visited at home; ten cars have been damaged. The bill for damaged cars at Yamanouchi has reached £65,000 after 19 owned by its executives were doused in paint stripper.

Victims are researched meticulously and information appears regularly in versions of Abix (animal abusers index), which is distributed to extremists. Silent and abusive telephone calls are followed by abusive e-mails, postal death threats, suspect packages, broken windows and graffiti. Incendiary devices may be planted near cars and homes.

One weapon is to dub someone a paedophile. Letters are written to neighbours, staff and family revealing the target as a convicted paedophile or a sexual deviant. Pornographic images, sex magazines and sex toys are sent.

Junk mail can include washing machines, and three-piece suites. Credit ratings may be affected if goods are not paid returned promptly.

Tim Lawson-Cruttenden, Yamanouchi's lawyer, who has represented furriers, huntspeople and other Japanese companies against militants, is being advised on his safety by Special Branch. He said of the activists:

They really are very dangerous. There is no knowing where they will stop.

A SENIOR director with a Japanese drug company was angry last night after hearing the decision to cancel the Cambridge research laboratory. He has been on an animal welfare target list for about a year and when he is away from home a security guard is posted to protect his wife and two teenage children.

He said: "The whole family is absolutely panic-stricken. Everyone is jumpy if there is a strange noise in the house or strangers near the house."

The executive, who wishes to remain anonymous, spends his life "watching his back" but thinks the Cambridge decision is disgraceful. He said: "This just demonstrates that we have to have more effective legislation. We feel that these activists should be dealt with in the same way as football hooligans."

He said that his lawyers were not even able to serve injunctions on activists. "We seem to have got caught up in the Data Protection Act and police won't give us the addresses we need. Something has to be sorted out."

THE TIMES

Rise of suburban terrorist has British scientists on the run

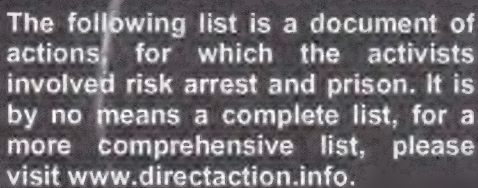

February 08, 2004

The success of animal rights activists in halting a new Cambridge laboratory has led to increasing threats of violence, write Jack Grimston and Gareth Walsh.

FOR the drug company executive, life in his comfortable village in the home counties turned sour one morning last summer when he was in bed with flu. His son-in-law came into the room, asking what had happened to the car. When the man went downstairs he saw what looked like a minor, if mindless, act of vandalism. The car had been disfigured by paint-stripper.

But the attack turned out to be just the beginning of a long campaign against the man by animal rights extremists who have targeted hundreds, perhaps thousands, of people. Their "crime", in the eyes of the protesters, is to be linked, however distantly, with companies that carry out medical tests on animals. In this man's case, he works for a company that is also a customer of Huntingdon Life Sciences (HLS), the research organisation near Cambridge. It is the object of hate among the animal rights movement because it carries out thousands of medical tests every year on mice, rats, and occasionally birds and dogs. The vilification campaign has been sustained.

Nov-Mar

Inclusion of any action does not indicate approval of that action.

11/02/04 (New Zealand) – Forty Four chickens liberated from Mainland Poultry Ltd.

03/11/03 (Sweden) - Around 100 cages were opened on a fur farm in Solvesborg. When the farmer arrived he found over fifty mink were missing.

05/11/03 (Spain) - Forty chinchillas, one ferret and one rabbit were liberated from Spain's only chinchilla farm. Cages and machinery were also destroyed.

23/11/03 (Australia) - The Auckland Animal Liberation Front gained entry into a South Auckland battery hen farm by smashing a large hole in the side of the wall. 10 hens were liberated and have been placed in safe, caring homes where they will live out the rest of their natural lives in freedom.

07/12/03 (Spain) - Over 20 cages were opened on a fur farm in Segovia. 12 mink were taken to a forest near a river and released.

10/12/03 (UK) – 150 rabbits, and 10 guinea pigs liberated from pet shop breeder.

12/12/03 (Norway) - 1500 minks were released from a fur farm at Vinderup. The gate of the farm was broken up to allow the mink to escape.

13/12/03 (UK) - 700 mice were liberated from Wickham Labs in Hampshire. The police later found all but 37 of the mice, and sent them back to the lab where they were immediately gassed.

14/12/03 (UK) - 21 goats, many of them pregnant, were liberated from a goat farm in Somerset, who supply goats to vivisection labs, including HLS.

15/12/03 (Italy) - A mink farm in Castel di Sangro, L'Aquila, was raided. The cages in the four sheds of this farm were opened liberating all of the animals.

11/12/03 (Ireland) - Two broiler chickens liberated from a battery unit in County Kildare.

07/01/04 (Sweden) – Eight rabbits liberated from meat farm in Olmstad. There were no other animals on site at the time.

16/02/04 (UK) – 22 chickens
liberated from battery unit in Wiltshire.

16/02/04 (Sweden) – 12 rabbits and two Chinchillas liberated from pet shop supplier.

16/02/04 (UK) – 25 chickens were liberated from a battery unit in the North West.

22/02/04 (Spain) – 5 chickens liberated from an egg battery farm. Damage was caused to many cages.

23/02/04 (UK) – 18 chickens
liberated from battery unit in Somerset.

19/07/03 (Italy) - (this action was only recently claimed) "In the night of Saturday 19 of July we threw molotovs against delivery company Traini & Torresi in Segrate (Milano) collaborators of torture and death of thousands animals coming from the horrible Morini farm in San Polo d'Enza. 5 Metres of pallets and a roof upon them went on fire. Over there the offices are located... who knows..." Two days later Traini & Torresi stopped working with Morini farm.

03/11/03 (Norway) - 500 foxes dyed with red-henna colouring on a fur farm in Østfold. All breeding cards were destroyed.

03/11/03 (USA) - Director of HLS collaborators Mellon Investment Services had his car windows smashed, paint strewn about his home and cars, and slogans painted on his house in spray paint. Two days later Mellon severed all ties with HLS.

03/11/03 (UK) - A building belonging to HLS supplier Industrial Supplies in Nottingham have reinforced windows smashed with half bricks.

04/11/03 (UK) - The director of a Japanese bank who deal with HLS had paint-stripper poured over both of the cars on his driveway, his tyres were slashed and his front door was locked shut.

06/11/03 (USA) - The ALF painted and smashed two delivery vans and the main building of the Little Pigs Bar-B-Que restaurant in Asheville.

06/11/03 (UK) - A director of HLS collaborators Sumitomo Mitsui Asset Management had his car paint stripped, and the tyres slashed.

09/11/03 (Sweden) - 80 windows on 30 fur shops attacked with paint, spray paint, glass etching fluid and locks were glued.

11/11/03 (UK) - The director of a company involved with the Newchurch Guinea Pig farm had every window of his house smashed. A fortnight before this he had both his cars destroyed with paint stripper.

11/11/03 (UK) - A director of HLS supporters Mizuho Bank had his car paint stripped, and paint thrown over his gate.

11/11/03 (UK) - Sankyo director has his house attacked with a bucket of paint and dog shit.

11/11/03 (Australia) - A fur shop in Melbourne has three plate glass windows and doors smashed.

12/11/03 (UK) - One of the owners of the vehicles used to import primates for HLS which were firebombed recently, had his car attacked on his driveway.

13/11/03 (UK) - A mobile rodeo arena was destroyed in Victoria, two days before the rodeo was due to take place. Metal pins joining sections of the fence were removed, and spare pins and tools were taken. Chains used to secure gates were cut off. The interconnecting gates were broken, as well as other extensive damage.

13/11/03 (USA) - An HLS director had his car paint stripped on his drive.

14/11/03 (UK) - A Yamanouchi director in Hampshire had two cars covered in paint stripper by the Justice League.

15/11/03 (Sweden) - Within a week 136 windows on fur shops across Sweden are covered in etching fluid. Other windows are broken, and shops are covered in paint.

17/11/03 (UK) - A Daiichi employee in Oxon had 2 cars paint stripped and the locks on his car and house were glued.

20/11/03 (Italy) - An electricity plant serving a Bayer factory was bombed. The action was taken due to Bayer's involvement in GMO's.

24/11/03 (UK) - Three cars belonging to a director of HLS collaborators State Street were covered with paint stripper and all three had their tyres slashed.

26/11/03 (UK) - A member of the Dunston Harriers Hunt had the front of his newly built house covered in yellow paint.

26/11/03 (UK) - Two HLS suppliers, Otis Lifts and ADT, had their locks glued and buildings painted. A new van at ADT was painted and the tyres were slashed.

28/11/03 (UK) - An employee of HLS supplier Phenomenex had their windows smashed

28/11/03 (UK) - 11 vehicles at M & J Seafoods in Wimborne were destroyed in an arson attack.

02/12/03 (UK) - The head of Yamanouchi in the U.K. had two cars covered in paint stripper.

HLS collaborators car redecorated by the ALF

05/12/03 (Finland) - 500 foxes on a fur farm were dyed with henna. All the breeding cards were taken.

05/12/03 (Italy) - A car of a vivisector in Torino was trashed with broken windows, punctured tyres, paintstripper and paint.

06/12/03 (UK) - A director of HLS supplier CED in Romford had a 4x4 covered in paint stripper.

06/12/03 (UK) - A Yamanouchi employee has two cars covered in paint stripper, and her door and white walls were covered in red paint.

06/12/03 (UK) - After an HLS demo in Huntingdon, Industrial Supplies at Peterborough had bricks thrown at their windows and CED in Cambridge had bricks hurled through the windows.

supplier Pioneer Chemicals has car paint stripped.

13/12/03 (Russia) - Activists launch cyber attack on HLS, and crash their website for several months. They sent HLS 100000 emails a day.

15/12/03 (Finland) - A fur farm storage building was burnt down. The fire brigade got the fire under control, but had to return later that night as the fire restarted.

16/12/03 (UK) - Recently replaced windows were smashed at an Industrial Supplies building in Nottingham. Slogans were sprayed in large letters down the side of the building. A couple of weeks later Industrial Supplies severed their contract with H.L.S.

17/12/03 (UK) - The ALF paid a visit to HLS supplier CED's director in South Benfleet, Essex. Cars were paint stripped, sprayed, and tyres slashed and ALF calling card was left.

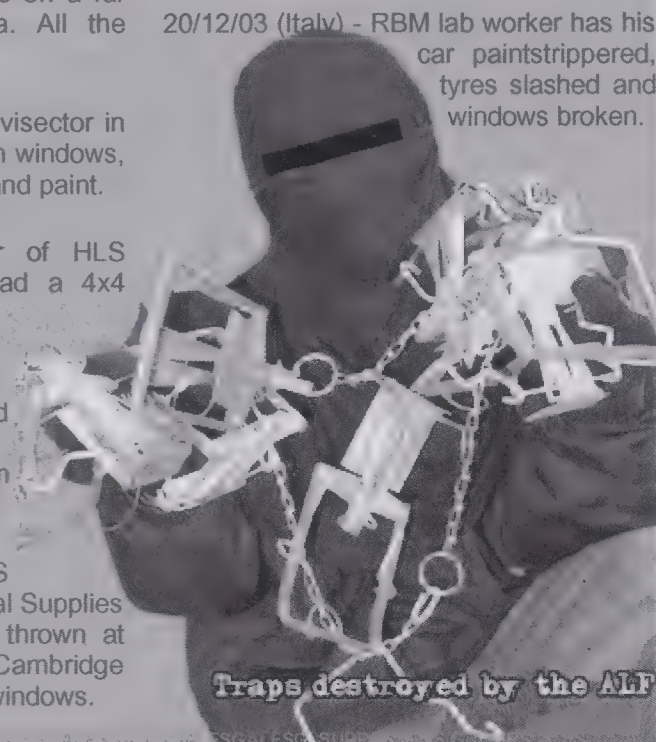

18/12/03 (UK) - A manager of HLS supplier Industrial Supplies in Suffolk had his car paint stripped, tyres slashed and locks glued. A Christmas message was left on the house.

18/12/03 (UK) - ADT Secretary in Harrow, Middlesex had cars paint stripped, locks glued and tyres punctured.

19/12/03 (Austria) - Butyric acid was syringed into the ground floor of fur supplier Peek & Cloppenburg.

19/12/03 (USA) - A manger of HLS collaborator Sumitomo had two cars covered in paint stripper and paint.

20/12/03 (Italy) - RBM lab worker has his car paintstrippered, tyres slashed and windows broken.

Traps destroyed by the ALF

21/12/03 (New Zealand) - The ALF poured paint stripper over four cars belonging to Tegel Chicken directors.

22/12/03 (UK) - A vivisector who uses Newchurch guinea pigs at Cardiff University had his car covered in paint stripper on his drive.

23/12/03 (UK) - The Animal Rights Militia sent hundreds of letters to HLS collaborators, warning that continued involvement with lab would result in violent attacks.

24/12/03 (UK) - A Yamanouchi employee in Huntingdon had two cars covered in paint stripper.

24/12/03 (UK) - The daughter of Newchurch Guinea Pig Farm's owner had her underground stop tap outside her house turned off and covered with a mass of quick drying cement.

25/12/03 (UK) - A Yamanouchi employee in Cardiff had two cars doused with paint stripper, and his house was covered in paint.

25/12/03 (UK) - A Yamanouchi employee in Weston Super Mare had his car covered in paint stripper, and their tyres were slashed.

26/12/03 (UK) - HLS suppliers Gregory Friar Associates had 4 Cars damaged with paint stripper and spray paint.

20.000 euros for information on ALF activists didn't succeed. They have been posting a message with the 20.000 euros offer to all the AR groups, campaigns and organizations, giving contact details for those wishing to grass someone. And their mobile phone and e-mail box are being stormed with hundreds of calls and messages to show disgust with their work... how stupid they are!

27/12/04 – ITALY HUNTING FACILITY ARSON

"A hunting dogs training centre was damaged with fire. On site the police found a banner reading "Hunters: if animals are your target, you are ours". 40 quails had been liberated from the site previously this year. This time there was no birds and fire was set to the bird cages and the hunters dressing room."

30/12/04 – FINLAND ARSON AT FUR FARM

"Fire destroyed a fur farm storage building in Uusikaarlepyy. The fire destroyed the 375 square meter building completely. Uusikaarlepyy has more than 300 fur farms. It's the heart of Finnish fur farming community."

31/12/04 – ITALY CIRCUS TRUCK ARSON

Nine circus trucks were torched by the ALF. The circus of Barcelona estimated damages at 400.000 euros.

On site the following message was left: "The show is over. ALF".

31/12/04 – SPAIN SLAUGHTERHOUSE TRUCK TORCHED

"Fire. Destruction. Ruin. On New Years Eve we decided to send a message to those people who, day after day, fill their pockets with money stained by the blood of innocent and defenseless life. 12 liters of gasoline were placed under a refrigerated truck, property of an industrial slaughter house. The flames did their work, reducing great parts of the vehicle to ashes, and making it unusable."

For us, sabotage and arson is the most pure and irretrievable expression of our desire of liberation and of our solidarity with our brothers and sisters being murdered, dominated, jailed, tortured, gutted, vivisectioned, poisoned, shot, struck, cut up and cooked.

We urge activists to liberate animal prisoners and to go to war on exploiters. Their victims can't talk so we must speak for them."

02/01/04 – NORWAY FUR FARM ARSON

"A fire started at an empty mink farm in Harstad. There was no animals in the farm at the time. Police say that they suspect arson, as there are suspicious footprints back and forth to the farm from a passing road. The Norwegian ALF has claimed in a recent press-release that they will target the fur industry with more actions in 2004."

A representative for the fur dealer-alliance says the ALF have cost over 20 millions NKR (over £2,000,000) to the Norwegian fur industry through their actions from last summer until today."

07/01/04 – SWEDEN RABBIT LIBERATION

"On the night to the 7th of january we gained access to a rabbit farm in Olmstad."

The rabbit farm breeds rabbits for meat and show. They live in small cages without any contact with each other. We felt that we had to take action and give the rabbits new homes where they will be able to jump, dig and everything else a rabbit could wish for.

There should have been 30 rabbits on the farm, but we were too late. The farmer, Kennert, had killed all but eight. Eight wonderful rabbits that we took with us and left the farm empty."

10/01/04 – SWEDEN ANIMAL MUTILATION ART DESTROYED

Edemont mutilates the corpses of murdered animals in the name of art. Swedish activists did not feel that this was acceptable.

"4 masked persons rushed in and destroyed or partly destroyed art to an estimated value of 150,000 Swedish crowns (£13000). An employee who tried to intervene got punched in the face. The 4 then left the gallery running."

12/01/04 – USA FAST FOOD SPEAKERS HACKED

"Police believe teenage pranksters are hacking into the wireless frequency of a US Burger King drive-through speaker to tell potential customers they are too fat for fast food."

Policeman Gerry Scherlink said the pranksters told one customer who had just placed an order: "You don't need a couple of Whoppers. You are too fat. Pull ahead."

The offenders are reportedly tapping into the wireless
